

53RD ANNUAL SESSION
OCT 25-28 • SAN DIEGO

DISTINGUISHED RESEARCHER AWARD

Recognizing outstanding contributions through original research, literature, teaching, or clinical applications

DR. KONSTANTINOS CHOCHLIDAKIS

Dr. Konstantinos Chochlidakis is an associate professor and the program director of the Prosthodontic Postgraduate Training Program at Eastman Institute for Oral Health (EIOH), University of Rochester, NY.

He is a Diplomate of the American Board of Prosthodontics, Fellow of the American College of Prosthodontists (FACP) and holds several memberships in other dental organizations. Dr. Chochlidakis is a Director of the American College of Prosthodontists Education Foundation (ACPEF) and the Vice President of the ACP Western NY section. Dr. Chochlidakis has received the Glen P. McGivney Scientific Writing Award for Systematic Review, the Iranpour Award for Excellence in Clinical Education and the ACP Distinguished Researcher Award in 2023. Dr. Chochlidakis has authored more than 60 scientific articles, abstracts and book chapters in peer-reviewed journals and textbooks and is lecturing nationally and internationally on several topics related to digital dentistry and implant prosthodontics.